

Overview of the Infinity Model

Professional Development in the Arts connects professional artists and their works with teachers, classrooms, and the core curriculum. Teachers are introduced to the artworks of professionals through attending a live performance or exhibition preceded by a pre-event discussion, and followed with an indepth workshop on how to transfer these experiences into significant classroom experiences that enable students to achieve the objectives in the State Fine Arts Core Curriculum.